ABOUT SCOTTISH SHORTBREAD

Originally the butter-shortbread variety was expensive and most people only got to taste it on special occasions. These included weddings, Christmas, Hogmanay (New Year's Eve), Burn's Supper (a celebration in honour of Scotland's famous poet Robert 'Rabbie' Burns, January 25th each year) and other 'high days and holidays'.

SCOTTISH SHORTBREAD

125g Butter

50g caster sugar

175g plain flour

1 tablespoon milk

1. Turn the oven on to 180c and place a sheet of greaseproof paper on a baking tray.
2. Mix together butter and sugar.
3. Sieve in the flour and add the milk a little at a time until you make a dough.
4. Wrap the dough in plastic wrap and place it in the fridge for 30 minutes, this makes the dough easier to roll out.
5. Roll out the dough on a lightly floured surface until it is 1cm thick.
6. Cut into shapes you would like as biscuits and place on baking tray.
7. Using a fork prick all the biscuits and place in oven for 15 minutes or until lightly golden brown. Allow to cool before eating.

DID YOU KNOW?

A traditional Scottish shortbread recipe makes the most mouth-watering biscuit.

But over the centuries use has changed quite a bit and if a 12th century Scot was to get a taste of modern-day shortbread, he might get quite a surprise!

Today's recipes use butter and flour to produce that exquisite, melt-in-your-mouth texture and flavour.

The first shortbread was made from remnants of bread dough (hence the bread part in the name) and contained oatmeal and yeast. It was then sprinkled with sugar and baked slowly in a cool oven.

This produced a very hard, dry biscuit-bread. A handy, portable snack which didn't spoil quickly.

Try putting a piece of today's shortbread in your pocket and see what happens.

Historically this tasty treat played a part in welcoming new brides in the Shetland and Orkney Isles to their marital homes.... as the bride and groom crossed the threshold a decorated shortbread (called the 'Bride's Bonn) was broken over their heads!

It is also still one of the foods offered to 'first-footers' (those going door to door on Hogmanay to welcome in the New Year).
